NATIONALS DRIVE DINEEN FROM BOX

Big Twirler Taken Out After Scoring Nine Consecutive Victories, While Tom Hughes Holds Browns Safe—Milan Makes Great Return to Plate, Completing a Double.

WASHINGTON, 4; ST. LOUIS, 2.
That big Brown steam roller, that has been playing such havoc around the circuit by crushing everything in its path, came to a sudden and abrupt halt at National Park yesterday, precipitated Bill Dineen from his lofty perch, and allowed the Nationals to make a hair-breadth escape with a victory.

It was the first defeat of the season for Dineen. On April 28 he made his first appearance of the year, and from then on to yesterday he defeated every team he faced. Nine times the opponents of the Browns fell victims of the curves and cunning of the lefty twirler, and the enthusiastic St. Louis fans were betting their merry wads that Dineen would lead the league in the number of consecutive victories at the end of the season.

But it remained for the Nationals to get to Dineen in such a fashion that before one-third of the game had been played he was forced to quit the firing line, leaving Texas Bill Bailey to take up the stern chase, which lasted through the remainder of the afternoon.

Tom Hughes in Form.

Benedict Tom Hughes pitched one of his best games of the year, and this despite the fact that he was the recipient of a wedding present, which is usually a forbidding of an explosion. Instead of going to pieces, as is generally done by a player when he receives some memento, the newly wed showed his appreciation of the silver service by getting better as he went along, so that toward the close he was a perfect puzzle to McAlleer's pennant chasers. Five hits were all the damage the Browns were able to do to Hughes' delivery, and no two of these came in any one inning, and had the work of the Nationals in the field been faultless not a visitor would have crossed the rubber.

While both of the Washington errors figured in the run-making, the individual fielding honors of the day went to a local player, and the play on which Clyde Milan starred was no other than the famous make-em-while-you-wait return to the plate that caused sorrow in the hearts of the White Sox the day before. It came in the fourth inning with one out. Tom Jones had doubled and moved to third on a sacrifice when Spencer whaled a liner to right center. Milan caught the ball, and, like a flash, he hit home. The leather bounded perfectly as Jones lunged to the plate, but Warner was on the job, and with one stab brought it down on the Brown as Mr. O'Loughlin majestically waved the runner out.

Those who missed the heavens of Altizer, Ganley, and Clymer in the draw battle with Chicago went fairly wild at Milan's play, and every time the speedy Tennessee stepped to the plate he was cheered.

Score in the Third.
The run getting started in the third, when Stone beat out a bunt. Hartzell laid the ball down in front of the plate, but Hughes, in his anxiety to get the runner at first, threw wild, and pulled Freeman off the bag. Both runners advanced on Williams' out, and Stone scored when Altizer retired Wallace.

In the second half of the same inning Washington went into the lead, and was never headed. Hughes out of the way, Milan drew a base on balls, and Shiple singled to left, giving Milan a chance to reach third, from which place he scored on Ganley's sacrifice fly. Shiple went to second on the throw-in, and beat the ball home on Clymer's hit to right.

The Nationals got another pair of tallies in the fourth. Freeman walked, but was thrown out when Altizer poked a grounder to Tom Jones. Altizer took third on McBride's safety, and Shiple singled to left, giving Altizer a chance to reach third, from which place he scored on Ganley's sacrifice fly. Shiple went to second on the throw-in, and beat the ball home on Clymer's hit to right.

HACKENSCHMIDT DISABLED.

Russian Lion May Never Be Able to Wrest Again.

Berlin, July 11.—It is stated that it is doubtful if Hackenschmidt, the "Russian Lion," will be able to resume wrestling.

One consequence of his recent illness was an operation which left a temporary paralysis of the left hand. An affection of the knee, which is now eighteen months' old, is still painful, and shows little signs of improvement.

GRANT REFUSES TO PLAY.

Withdraws from the Welsh Tennis Championships After Protest.

Newport, Wales, July 11.—In the play for the Welsh championship in tennis here to-day, Wyle Grant, the American expert, created a sensation by withdrawing suddenly, after he had won his way to the semi-finals for the open championship in singles.

Grant should have played after Wilding in the third round on Friday, but the latter was absent and it was planned to play that series to-day. As this was the last day of the tournament, however, it would have been necessary for the winner of the Grant-Wilding match to play the finals also to-day, but Grant protested against any arrangement which made it necessary for a player to play two series on the same day.

His protest was not allowed, and he, therefore, withdrew on principle, thus forfeiting the game to Wilding. Wilding thereupon played the finals out with Bencher, an lost 3 to 2. Bencher, therefore, winning the championship.

RITCHIE GETS TITLE.

Englishman Captures Tennis Championship at Wimbledon.

Wimbledon, England, July 11.—The first of the Olympic Lawn Tennis championships was played here to-day. J. G. Ritchie, England, took the gold medal in the singles, beating Fretzheim, Germany, who was awarded the silver medal. The Englishman won in straight sets 3 to 6.

In the men's doubles G. W. Hilliard and R. S. Dougherty, America, defeated J. G. Ritchie and J. C. Parke, England, also in straight sets, 3 to 6.

JIGGS DONOHUE IS INJURED

Sprained Ankle Will Keep Player Out for Two Weeks or More.

In Attempting to Stop After Starting to Slide He Twisted His Leg. Is Now Confined to His Room.

Jiggs Donohue, one of the valuable members of the Chicago club, will be out of the game during the remainder of the White Sox's trip through the East, and possibly for a longer period.

In Friday's game at National Park Donohue tried to stop after starting to slide and sprained his ankle. He gamely stuck to his post, but when he attempted to get out of the bus at the hotel he was unable to walk. He was carried to his room, and spent a miserable night.

He hobnobbed on crutches yesterday to watch the Browns and Nationals play, but had to go to his room at the Arlington after the game, and has not been out since.

Dr. C. S. White, brother of the pitcher, examined the injury last night, and told Donohue that it was out of the question for him to play for at least two weeks.

The physician notified Manager Fielder Jones, and it is likely that Donohue will be ordered back to Chicago to await the return of the club.

With Donohue out of the game the Sox are greatly weakened. Aside from his playing Donohue is a valuable fighter and was a decided factor in the Sox's victory over the Cubs in the world's series.

Isbell played first at Philadelphia yesterday.

LAST INTERCITY MATCH.

Washington and Baltimore Teams Will Meet Saturday.

The last match of the season between the Washington and Baltimore tennis teams will be played on the courts of the Baltimore Country Club on July 18. It is expected that the match will be hard fought. Conrad B. Doyle, who defeated Othier at the match in Philadelphia nearly three weeks ago, will meet Frederick Colston again.

The make-up of the Washington team has not yet been decided, but it will be selected from the following men: C. B. Doyle, John Davidson, Dr. L. W. Glazebrook, R. W. Hills, P. C. C. M. Carlisle, L. Doyle, and Harold Doyle. There will be eight men on each team.

Pian Baseball League.

Milwaukee, July 11.—As an outcome of the annual baseball games between the aldermen of Milwaukee and Philadelphia, a movement is under way to organize an aldermanic baseball league, to include the city fathers of New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo, St. Louis, Chicago, and Milwaukee.

TANNEHILL SCOUTS

FOR TWO PLAYERS

Goes to Look Over Pair of Promising Men

IN A SOUTHERN LEAGUE

Report to Cantillon—Nothing Has Yet Been Heard from Bob Unglaub, but No Trouble Is Expected from Player—Gossip of the Nationals.

Jesse Tannehill, of the Nationals, left this city yesterday on a mysterious scouting trip.

For some time Joe Cantillon has been receiving good reports of the work of a pair of players in one of the leagues in the South, so he has decided to send Tannehill down to look them over, and if he is favorably impressed the players will be added to the Washington rolls within a week or so.

Who the players are Cantillon refuses to say, but it is understood that they both have good records, and if they do not come up to expectations they can be sent to some Western club to be developed.

Tannehill is not expected back for several days, as he will have to wait until tomorrow or Tuesday to see the men in action.

Nothing has yet been heard from Bob Unglaub, who was purchased from the Red Sox on Friday. According to reports from Boston, Unglaub does not intend to come here for at least a month, but Cantillon is not worrying, as he expects the player to be here this week.

"Unglaub was injured a couple of weeks ago," said Cantillon last night, "and it may be that he expects to take a rest to recover entirely before joining us. However, our agreement with Boston was that Unglaub was to report immediately, and if he is not here with us by Tuesday we will get busy and find out just what the trouble is."

"I have all sorts of confidence in Unglaub, and think he will be a big help to the Nationals, as he is a natural hitter and can be used to advantage when the other teams are using left-handers against us."

A party composed of Cantillon, Clymer, and Pickering left here late last night for Harpers Ferry, where they will spend to-day fishing. The local manager usually goes out of town to sport with the rod and line on Sundays, but this is the first time he has gone so far away.

The trio will be back to-morrow in time for practice.

Jim Delehanty has not sent Cantillon any word during the last week, but the White Sox, who played a series in Cleveland, said that they saw Delehanty, and he seemed to be in poor health.

For a time the doctors did not appear to know the exact nature of the player's sickness, but, according to what Delehanty told the White Sox, he is feeling considerably better, and plans to join the Nationals when they leave for their Western trip.

Jimmy McAlleer, Charley Jones, and a number of other Browns will spend Sunday down the river on a fishing expedition.

CHICAGO GOLFERS BEST.

Capture Olympic Trophy in Western Championship.

Rock Island, Ill., July 11.—Chicago's quartet of juvenile golfers, Kenneth Edwards and Bobby Hunter, of Midland; Ned Sawyer, of Wheaton, and Warren K. Wood, of Homewood, won the Olympic trophy in the curtain-raising competition for the Western golf championship here to-day.

The victory was clean-cut, the winners leading Minnesota by 19 strokes, and a trans-Mississippi team by 28 shots. There were six teams in the competition. Compared with last year's play, when the Metropolitan team, composed of Travers, Travis, Archie Reid, and Fred Hiereschoff, won the trophy, the score of the Chicago boys to-day was nine strokes better.

The summary for the six teams follows: Western Golf Association, 62; Minnesota, 61; Trans-Mississippi, 61; St. Louis City, 62; Iowa, 62; Missouri, 72.

TAD JONES QUILTS BASEBALL.

Yale Star Will Not Play with Giants or Any Other Team.

Cincinnati, July 11.—There is no chance of the Giants or any other team getting Tad Jones, the Yale star, to play professional ball. Tad, whose home is in Middletown, near here, was here this week to see the Giants play every game with the Reds, and said yesterday that he would go back to New Haven in the fall to take charge of the athletic division of the Y. M. C. A. here. McGraw has several times suggested that Jones join the Giants, but the opportunity to become a pro has always been declined by the great college player.

"I was through with baseball when I gave my trusty bat to 'Spike' Shannon," said Jones, "and the diamond will never see me again unless I go out some afternoon and play a little for recreation."

BUCKENBERGER FOR ST. PAUL.

Veteran Manager Will Take Charge in American Association.

Toledo, Ohio, July 11.—It is reliably learned here to-day that Al C. Buckenberger, who this week was relieved of the management of the Rochester Eastern League club, is negotiating with the St. Paul Club, of the American Association, and it is almost settled that he will land the management of the job there, displacing Tim Flood. Buckenberger has had much experience at the game. He landed two pennants for Rochester a year ago, when he had trouble with Joseph O'Brien, president of the association.

SOUTHERN CIRCUIT PLANNED

Curley Brown at Head of New String of Race Tracks.

Will Include Savannah, Charleston, Jacksonville, Norfolk, and Tampa, Fla.

New York, July 11.—According to the plans of the race-track promoter, Curley Brown, there will be a new circuit in the South next winter which may prove attractive for horsemen. With the tracks at New Orleans practically out of business, Brown figures that horsemen will patronize new tracks to be built at Savannah, Charleston, Jacksonville, and Norfolk, with another race course at Tampa.

Brown has organized a syndicate of capitalists, who will finance the new circuit. The work will begin immediately. Brown was at Brighton Beach track to-day and said he intended to boom racing in the Southern cities, where, he declared, there was a popular demand for the sport. It is not known whether the Jockey Club will sanction the proposed circuit, but whether it does or not, Brown says he will go ahead.

There was a race meeting at Tampa last winter, but it was run on a small scale. Still, the horsemen patronized it, and the promoters intend to try again. If Brown's circuit is established, it is said that there will be thirty days of racing at each city in the combination, and that liberal purses will be offered.

Savannah says that the business men of Savannah, Charleston, Norfolk, and Jacksonville realize that with New Orleans out of it, they have a chance to bring much business and money to their respective cities, and that there will be practically no opposition to the scheme because of this reason. It is planned to hold county fairs and trotting races in conjunction with the running events.

Yankee Jumper Beats Leaky's Mark. London, July 11.—In an exhibition high jump this afternoon H. S. Porter, an American Olympic contestant, cleared six feet one inch, two inches better than the jump made by Leaky, a British entrant last week.

Jake Welmer Gets Balky.

Cincinnati, July 11.—Jake Welmer is said to have decided not to join the Giants unless the Cincinnati club gives him a share of the purchase money. President Hermann says there was no purchase money, as Welmer was traded for Spade.

Giants to Let 'Spike' Shannon Go.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 11.—Manager McGraw, of the Giants, has asked for waiver on 'Spike' Shannon. McCormick, recently obtained by McGraw, will play left field in Spike's place.

SOX BEAT ATHLETICS IN SIXTEENTH INNING

Vickers Weakens in Pitchers' Battle with Big Ed Walsh Long Enough to Allow the Chicagos to Send the Winning Run Over the Plate.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11.—Chicago won a great sixteen-inning battle from the Athletics to-day, by the score of 5 to 4.

For three hours and sixteen minutes the two teams strove to decide supremacy. It was the longest game on the local ground this season. Walsh and Vickers, who pitched throughout, gave a gritty exhibition on the rubber.

Vickers really did the better work, for had it not been for errors, which cost three runs, the game would have ended in the ninth in the Athletics' favor. Vickers himself is partly to blame for the defeat, for he covered first in the sixteenth the Sox would have been retired without the run.

One was out when Jones doubled. Isbell hit to Davis, but Vickers didn't cover first, and Izzy was safe. Jones, who had taken third, scored the winning run on a sacrifice fly.

ATHLETICS' HARD LUCK.

The Athletics had hard luck in their half of the sixteenth. Murphy, who had opened with a double, reached third on an out. O'Leary smashed a smoking liner to Tanne
